Comments	I have lived in Horley all my life. I had always believed that there would never be development in the fields between Hanwell and Banbury. Thus far, the developments that have been built have still left a green buffer, separating urban and rural, and maintaining the character of each. This development would simply subsume an ancient village with an historic castle and church, taking away its identity. The loss of productive land, destruction of habitat and increased pollution, light pollution and loss of beautiful views are factors which must be taken into account. CDC, you will have broken promises and destroyed trust if this goes ahead.
