Comments	Kirtlington already suffers from excessive traffic doing excessive speeds right through the middle of the village. We have a primary school here as well as quite a large population of elderly residents, and the road is dangerous enough as it is. The additional traffic that would be caused by this water park would, quite simply, destroy this village. And of course it would be even worse for those living in Chesterton. Why not build it somewhere the roads in are more capable of handling additional traffic? People live in villages because they want a quieter life, not because they want a massive water park next door. Not because they want their primary school to suddenly be sitting a couple of meters from a hugely busy road. Not because they want easy access to a god-awful water park. Put it next to a motorway or on an industrial estate. Please don't ruin our villages with traffic.
