Comments	I am writing to again raise an objection for this proposed development. All my previous reasons still stand along with concerns at the length of time Obsidian have been given to try and come up with a new proposal. They appear to have allowed months to come up with a new plan whilst the village and wider community have only been given a matter of days. The village were against this development the first time and are still against it regardless of what sweeteners Obsidian try and tempt them with. If this development is given approval the developers won't stop at just 60 houses and will apply for more houses. As the character of the village will already have been changed this will no longer be a valid reason to stop more development. Houses are currently not selling. We are in a financial crisis and certainly do not need any more houses.
