Comments	<input type="text" value="My daughter is a local event rider and uses these facilities on a regular basis. In order for horses to be competitive and potentially go on to reach Olympic level, riders need facilities which cater for the younger horses where they can experience as many types of jumping obstacles as possible. Additionally, they are one of the few venues who replicate the true competition environment by being all grass. Competition horses need to start their jumping work long before the competition season starts so any venue that can provide all year facilities help athletes in their chosen sport and therefore should be supported."/>
