Comments	<input type="text" value="The local infrastructure cannot cope with more development. My family and I moved to a new build on the Southam Road 5 years ago. Since then we've been aghast at the overload of local systems and services. We struggle to get local GP/Dentist appointments, and the local schools and school traffic are overloaded. It's horrendous and a real hinderance to local residents. Local wildlife is already massively affected, destruction of local greenland has led to Foxes and other wild animals constantly roaming new estates having been displaced. These plans are ill thought out and would place further unnecessary burden on the local populace and infrastructure. They address no key issues that a development of this type causes. There are so many spaces and derelict sites within the town and surrounding area already that need renovation and could serve the purpose of providing additional housing if needed at all. This is a completely unnecessary application, especially at a time of increasing cost of living and rising mortgage rates, rendering so many of these properties outside the reach of the purchasing power of local people and first time buyers."/>
