I have just read that OUFC has tasked all its supporters to write in and support the proposed build, no matter where they live. They don't care how much disruption is caused to the local population. I live locally and do care. Please bear that in mind when thinking about this scheme. The self interest of the fans should not outweigh the views of the local population who have to put up with the chaos they will cause. Just because all the fans want this, it doesn't make it right to impose it on the majority of people in the area who will be adversely affected and don't want it. The fan base all writing in to approve of this probably does not amount to the thousands of us in Kidlington, let alone North Oxford, Cuttleslowe and surrounding districts who will be disadvantaged.
