As an Oxonian that lives away but still follows Oxford United, I find this proposed site to be exciting. Currently I have to drive down to home matches as the additional time required to arrive by public transport is challenging. However with the option to be able to arrive directly at the ground by train changes this completely and will allow me and many others like myself to enjoy the game day fully.

I understand concerns raised by local residents about disruption, but the residents of Blackbird Leys had the same concerns, but now will be sad to see United relocate as it has generated significant income for local businesses and produces very little interference in their lives. Given that this new venture is backed by people that are genuinely committed to United and the local community the benefits by way of additional local facilities, which are critical to an expanding location such as Kidlington, plus additional much needed employment.

I like many others am keen on supporting nature and this has been raised by some as a significant issue for this site. I am sure that appropriate searches have taken place to identify any plants and animals in need of protection within the area at this time. Given the knowledge and technology available it a relatively simple task to either relocate these, or better still incorporate them into the grounds of the facility and in doing so provide easier public access to see and learn about them.

I for one am extremely keen to see United flourish in a new home that is suitable for the future and will be a proud addition to North Oxford that like the current location will become valued by the local residents
