Comments	<input type="text" value="This number of houses is totally unacceptable in a rural location, we seem intent on ruining our local countryside for ourselves and the wildlife that live amongst it. In an age where we harp on about global warming and teaching our children to be kinder to our planet why do we then continue to build, cover in concrete a d ruin our countryside. Very sad and hard to watch happen. Please see sense and don't let this happen.

If the local surgery can't cope then they shouldn't be taking on patients from surrounding villages. I would rather travel to a drs surgery in the local town than see the village have to have an additional 60 house development just to get a drs surgery that can cope! Who will find the supersized 'medical centre' if it lands in the field!

Easy No for me!"/>
