Comments	<input type="text" value="I'm writing to strongly object to this eyesore of a proposed new drs surgery which is totally out of keeping with the rural community that it is based in. There is an argument that the current surgery requires an increase in capacity but this proposed building is so out of what a rural village needs and is the sort of building for a town or city not our rural village that has a landscape of traditional stone and thatched buildings. The size of this building is so ridiculous just the day to day upkeep of it would mean that the surgery would have to increase their patient database by so much that the village would not be able to cope with the influx of traffic. This modern design and size has obviously been designed to try to curry favour with planning committees with no thought for the actual requirements of what the village needs or wants and purely for the planners to resubmit ridiculous plans for a huge amount of houses with no thought for the community but to line their own wallets. What does not seem to be appreciated in any of these ongoing submissions is that the village of Cropredy is in a valley so access is limited to small roads and increasing the population and therefore traffic, pollution and general strain on finite resources is only going to destroy our local environment and all that that entails when we should be focusing on trying to maintain rural communities and conserving local wildlife to lessen the environmental impact that we place on our village."/>
