Comments	<input type="text" value="The Bishops Blaize (renamed Pheasant Pluckers Inn) was a well-loved local pub in Sibford Ferris, which has been changed into a personal residence against the wishes of the local community. The council has failed in its duty to protect the pub. I object to this latest planning application for new houses because we already have too much building in the Sibfords. The Sibfords cannot support more houses and more cars - Sibford Ferris has doubled in size this last year. With the recent building developments, driving through the village is stressful and often blocked. Parking is difficult and there is no space to keep on building and building. The Sibfords has already exceeded its allocation of new houses so I assume this is just a money-making exercise where nobody benefits apart from the developers. This is creating great anxiety and mental health issues amongst the residents - Please stop and think for once about the damage you are doing to the local community."/>
