Dear Samantha,

Having attended the meeting regarding the proposed development to the south of Milton Road, Bloxham, I feel I must lodge my extreme anxiety in respect of this development. Bloxham is fast becoming a town and is losing its attractive rural appeal.

The amount of traffic coming through the village now is unacceptable. The paths are narrow opposite the shops and again from The Red Lion up to the war memorial. It is terrifying walking along. The thought of adding more vehicles from another 85 houses fills me with horror. There are a lot of elderly people living in the village who will soon feel marooned in their houses.

Many people, including me, enjoy walking through The Slade on our health walks. The wild life is wonderful but it will be lost if this development takes place.

Any way, we don't need any more houses. There are least 50 for sale in the village now.

Yours sincerely,
Ann Mahoney.
