Comments	<input "="" type="text" value="The airfield at Bicester has a long history and is an incredible amenity to not just the town, not just the local area but the country as a whole. The gliding club is a massive asset to the community and brings in visitors from all over the country to help support the local shops. They train youngsters with some as young as 14 flying aircraft on their own. Such a great thing for teenagers to be able to do. By building around the airfield continually you will not only make such a pleasant green space less visible, but also make the airfield less viable as an airfield site to potential obstructions and hazards while aircraft try and take off and land, rather critical phases of flight! Bicester is already a rapidly expanding and therefore busy town with congested roads. Further addition of traffic on these scales will be to the detriment of everyone in the town or trying to get through the town. It is selfish profit taking by the owners of the airfield at the expense of everyone else. How much capacity do you think Bicester has for hotel rooms considering what has recently been built in three south side of town,"/>
