Comments	<input type="text" value="I think along with a vast number of people that building more buildings on this site is downright ridiculous. Most of the people who live on this particular estate bought their houses because of the peace and tranquility of the area. They did not want to be living across the road from a noisy and poluted load of buildings.The road leading onto the Buckingham Road is hard to get out onto now from Skimmingdish Lane let alone when we are going to have a vastly amount of vehicles leaving and getting into the Bicester Heritage site. This road again will be very busy when the proposed hotel is built.The gliders have been there since the early fifties and are a pleasure to look at, being one of the few remaining airfields still active and used by enthusiasts it will be a crying shame to see it used for industrial purposes, denying people of there leisure and past time."/>
