Richard,

I spoke with Richard Oram last week; a really positive conversation with a clear way forward.

Richard reaffirmed his position that the previous application had the detail regarding preservation in situ areas and construction methodologies that provided him with the confidence to sign-up to the archaeological strategy. Richard and I spoke about the kind of detail and commitments he would need to see in our application to allow him the same confidence to 'recommend approval with conditions' (my words).

I believe this can be achieved by adding extra detail and content to the technical note we produced earlier this year. I agreed with Richard to send this on to him later this week, to seek his views and I am confident that this will resolve the outstanding matters. I believe this is best handled between the two of us, for now, to facilitate ease of comms; we can bring the wider team and the case officer back in to the conversation afterwards.

Drop me a line if you want more detail; otherwise I will crack-on and make the updates to the note.

All the best,
Rob
