Comments	Is there a demand for this, especially now NO! Bo peep has more than enough capacity and is currently sitting empty. And given that the entire hospitality trade is in such an unknown area and not even current shops /businesses have any idea of what their income is set to be for the next couple of years, how the hell would it be sensible to even attempt such a terrible idea. The site itself is no where any public amenities, is set nearly 1 mile away from the nearest public house/village shop of which all traffic will have to go through the village to access and it is already backing up past the shop on a standard school day morning when taking our children to BGN. Traffic will increase, cars will not slow down and someone will end up getting hurt, and you cannot say that the "west adderbury parish council" have not given you fair warning or asked for help in this area. A traffic survey would show that the increase movements "especially in the holiday periods" would put an already strained village further more over the safe side of the line so to speak. There is no demand, no need, no thoughts for the village that is already struggling with increasing vehicle movement and certainly no one would welcome this or any other further expansion outside the "boundary" of this historic village. Regards
