Comments	<input type="text" value="As a retired electrical engineer with 38 years of experience of working in a very large manufacturing facility for a multi-national company, I was shocked when we recently moved in to find this planning application. Having worked on similar dust extraction units, the constant loud drone will be very annoying to the local residents who are only 40 metres away. I agree that you will not be able to view the unit through local boundary vegetation when it is in leaf, but it will offer little resistance to the sound travelling. May I strongly recommend that the unit is enclosed in a substantial sound proofing chamber."/>
