Comments	<input type="text" value="I am writing to complain about the suggestion that there could ever be a fuel depot situated near a Village. It would not only be an eyesore but noisy and not suitable for the roads leading to it. The light pollution would be devastating to the local area, which is of natural Beauty as it stands, with wildlife abundant. After attempting to have a planning approval for a our own, a small extension, with glazed areas in the roof, To be turned down as it would be polluting the village with Light seems completely absurd when this monstrosity has been put forward. I can only hope that the planners can understand our frustration in their decisions if it were to go ahead. The area is not suitable For such a site and surely if it's running 24hrs it needs to be in a position nearer the motorway, for ease of access, and the large tankers avoiding narrow roads and tight bends, for example, through Wroxton. The other worries are of fire/explosions and leaks, near a village with livestock, and the local community being badly affected by such an event. Surely this is a planning application that has to be reconsidered, and refused due to the area and the lack of accessibility, disruptions and unsustainable in the countryside we all wish to keep green and clean. In the current environment when green is clean, where we want our children growing up where they can be safe and enjoy all that the countryside can give, having an depot on this scale is completely abysmal."/>
