I would like to object to the application for a fuel depot <https://planningregister.cherwell.gov.uk/Planning/Display/20/02453/F>

It seems to be insane to even think about putting a fuel depot in the middle of unspoilt unpolluted countryside down miles of wiggly roads to the nearest motorway. Banbury is the nearest which would mean going through Wroxton which has a right angle bend in the middle of it, the alternative route via Gaydon has a 11 percent gradient. Surely a fuel depot needs to be convenient for a motorway and within the curtilage of other development where light and traffic pollution is not going to be so jarring.

I hope for the sake of the countryside you will reject this proposal.

Yours sincerely
