Comments	<input type="text" value="While it is accepted that Bicester is a growing town, over the past few years many small areas of green have disappeared under housing. The land north of Gavray Drive is now the last area of green space remaining to the east of Wretchwick and Charbridge Lanes, all the rest has gone. I would strongly oppose any building on this land, as it is a valued amenity to the residents of Langford Village and a nature reserve for Bicester as a whole. With all the mega housing estates and warehouse building already going on around Bicester, is it really necessary to hand over this much loved area of green to the developers?"/>
