I am concerned about the idea of a campsite in the valley below the pub. I thought that the valley was to remain as green space between the villages with no building or development. The entrance to the site is on a dangerous bend over the existing well used pavement into a field that was a great place for wildlife before it was destroyed by terracing for the said campsite. I fear the development to a camp site would be disturbing to all the villages surrounding it as being in the grounds of a "Bikers pub" it could be very noisy. While I like to see campsites available for everyone I think one in the heart of these three villages would be noisy for many people and an increased danger for people driving and walking on the road between the Ferris and Burdrop.
