Comments	<input type="text" value="The villager's for years have wanted this to remain a pub and now when somebody tries to make it work with current conditions they complain about it. I have never visited a more friendly and to relaxes place. Most people do not like noise, when I have ever heard anybody so much as revving their engine the lady who runs it would come straight out and send them away. If happens again they would be barred. I wish this place to work and believe any negative attitudes is because others do not like change. Gavin"/>
