Comments	<input type="text" value="I think we all need to support village pubs. They are often the backbone of the community. That said often there are just not enough local people to support a village pub to make it viable. It is imperative that small local businesses are given the chance to grow and attract outside trade. If they can't attract other trade village pubs close, often forever. The biking community will enhance any trade especially a pub. They often raise money for local charities in local pubs. I can attest that the pub, villagers and biking community will all benefit from this application."/>
