Comments	<input type="text" value="We write in support of this application. For the last 10 years or more the shop has just about managed to survive thanks to the efforts of the applicants, supported by villagers who helped improve shop amenities as well as shopping there regularly. Sadly all this has not been enough to make the shop a viable business. Now with a new and successful Coop open in Bletchingdon and online deliveries so readily available it is impossible to see how a shop here run on commercial lines could become a successful enterprise again. As a hub for the community, a place where people could meet and exchange information, a shop would be invaluable. Unfortunately those assets do not generate income."/>
