Hello

Yes, a lighting strategy should be conditioned largely due to the potential impacts on nocturnal wildlife of light spill into the wooded areas and stream. I seem to remember there were discussions on lighting and camping specifically early on so there may already be some level of agreement on this - but I can't remember where it was or find them in the (very large) documents list.

Hi Charlotte,

The great crested newt mitigation for this one doesn't appear to include a restriction on external lighting. I seem to remember that you were concerned about this. Is it something you would like to see conditioned?

Thanks

Kind regards
