The access to this proposed new estate will impact each village negatively as it will only be accessed via 2 small single track country roads. Foxden Way is the main thoroughfare between Little Bourton and Great Bourton and is used locally for walking and cycling by both the older generation and families with children. Currently the traffic through there is low and it is quite safe however should there be an increase then this will no longer be a suitable place for the local community to use for recreation. School Lane, within Great Bourton, is a smaller lane again and already struggles with the amount of traffic from the current occupants as well as deliveries that invariably come each day. An average delivery van takes up the whole lane which causes disruption when it stops to deliver therefore added traffic from a new development will inevitably cause extra pressure.
