Comments	<input type="text" value="Without development and new houses, this country's housing crisis will only get worse - the size of the population is only heading in one direction. It is important, therefore, that well-considered and sensitive proposals are looked upon favourably. We shouldn't be aiming for development at all costs but decent houses that give a hand up to the younger generation is exactly what we should be striving for. On that basis, I wholeheartedly support this application."/>
