| Comments           | <input type="text" value="The road is only a single lane road due to the parking and the is also a kids playground on it, it is just not safe to increase the volume of traffic and that's before pointing out the current upkeep of this road can not be maintained at its current level, let alone if the traffic is increased... there are already major potholes that have been there for over a year and not repaired. The road is already at capacity and in these current days of carbon footprints it would be irresponsible to increase traffic flow to the residents living on this road, especially when the council had already agreed to let the developer charge almost extortionate service charge fees to those residents on top of threatening them with more traffic. Prior to any more increase, the council should record emission levels currently experience by residents and children play areas and these should not be increased. thank you"/> |
