Comments	<input type="text" value="The development will completely ruin the aesthetic of the area. I live on the Elmsbrook development, and part of the reason I bought here was because of the overall vision; it was a single development with the promise of 40percent green space. The new development is a monstrosity, and looks massive in size, akin to the local Kingsmere development. The Elmsbrook houses were sold at a higher cost partly for this reason. I think it will adversely affect our property value due to its proximity. I also dont believe there is the infrastructure to support this amount of traffic. Bicester is a beautiful market town, but loosing all its charm due to exponential development on its green space. Very disappointed and strongly object"/>
