Comments	As it is, the traffic around this area is extremely busy, to even attempt to get out of Vulcan View is a nightmare, we can't see traffic that comes from the right off the roundabout, which opens up to a 50mph zone immediately nor the traffic coming from the left, same mph, this gives us very little chance of entering Skimmingdish Lane, and before long a accident. My suggestion would be speed humps to slow the traffic down. The area between the two roundabouts where the planning is being applied for...is also a 50mph zone, in a very short road. The amount of cars, HGV's etc turning in and out of that area would have a impact and a backlog of traffic.
