Comments	<input type="text" value="I cannot understand the planners of Banbury, they had a chance to build the services and instead build a massive, totally inappropriate warehouse on greenfield land. Now they want to add more building, yet another hotel, when we have the new hotel by the canal and the Holiday Inn. And services. The services should have been put where the Gateway is on Banbury side of the motorway and the other side of the motorway should remain as countryside. The Gateway has killed the town centre, when will it end? This new planning application is wholly inappropriate for the area and will then encourage even more building. It is also not needed when there are services at Bicester. Build in Gaydon that junction is perfect for services and gets lots of traffic to the Motoring Museum. Open your eyes planners and see how you are killing our town."/>
