Comments	<input type="text" value="The surrounding road infrastructure can barely support the traffic as it is now, let alone with further demand should this go through. There is a service station already at Warwick, both North and southbound, just 10 minutes further north, and there is Cherwell service station 10 minutes further south. We do not need a service station every 10 minutes. There are already hotels just adjacent to the m40 roundabout just the other side of the motorway. This application has already been objected"/>
