Comments	<input type="text" value="Personally, I think that the proposed building plan is unnecessary for Banbury at this current moment. With the current shopping area on the other side of the M40 which features multiple shops as well as fast food restaurants, as well as the new Premier Inn which has been built in the centre of town, I struggle to see a reason as to why we need another hotel or more fast food restaurants. By continuing with this plan, it is also further adding to the issue of a town centre which is struggling to keep shops open as many people are now shopping elsewhere. The new hotel in town will hopefully promote new tourists and could therefore boost the amount of people using shops and restaurants in the centre of Banbury. If a new hotel was to be built on the outside of town, this would counteract this possible benefit for the town. In terms of the drive through restaurants and cafes that may be built, on the other side of the M40 there is already a McDonald's and Costa drive through as well as a Starbucks, and other local restaurants very close by. Therefore the need for more fast food places is completely unnecessary."/>
