Comments	<input type="text" value="The Castle Quay Two project is already providing a hotel, in the centre of town, which will no doubt help to bring much needed tourism and money to our town centre. Why do we need another hotel, which will likely take business away from this? Furthermore, with motorway services located near Warwickshire and Bicester for the M40 is there honestly a need to increase traffic to an already busy junction? The landscape of Banbury has changed dramatically in recent years and what we do not need is more pollution, noise and building work. Our town centre also has plenty of empty units currently that could be used for office space. Perhaps looking at an investment within the town centre would be a better suited project."/>
