Comments	Does the general driving community need another petrol stop on the M40? NO. It's 9.4 miles to Bicester services & 14.8 to Warwick services. You do not need 1 inbetween. There are at least 4 large hotels in Banbury already. Why would you need a massive 240 room hotel as well? The traffic on the A361 between the roundabout and this hideous project is going to be horrendous. Combined with the years & years of HS2 haulage movement, it will be chaotic. Still I suspect not many of the planning committee live anywhere nearby. I suppose the developers have used the age old 'chestnut' of this will provide 'much needed jobs'. But this application is just a rehash of the original in 2018. Do these developers, when refused, just go away and rearrange the words a little and re- apply? Knowing they will persuade the council to wear down the general public's resolve in the end. My wife and I ask you passionately to reject the proposal.
