Comment for planning application 21/03267/OUT

Proposal Outline planning permission (all matters reserved except for access) for the erection of buildings comprising logistics (Use Class B8) and ancillary Office (Use Class E(g)(1)) floorspace and associated infrastructure; construction of new site access from the B4100; creation of internal roads and access routes; and hard and soft landscaping Organisation Name Veronica Barnes Address Honeysuckle Cottage,11 Hethe Road,Hardwick,Bicester,OX27 8SS Type of Comment Objection Type neighbour Comments Is trongly object to the proposal on the following grounds: In the Cherwell DC Local Plan, this site is not allocated for employment, or any other use. It shows the site retaining its current agricultural use. There are many other alternative sites in Cherwell, amounting to over 50 hcctares of land, which have been allocated for employment and should be prioritised over this site. Why have a 'Local Plan' and then ignore it! The roposed development has an extremely large footprint. These buildings have great present discomfort to villagers and noise pollution. Thesite is in open countryside, which is entirely unsuited to a such a large-scale industrial development. These allogenet was assault on the senses of local residents and the many visitors who currently and regularly enjoy the North Oxfordshire countryside. In shruing to travel north towards the Ad3 te Baynards Green petrol station to 110 on the M40 regularly comes to a standstill now - sometimes blocking egress from the M40. Tailbacks of traving at speed/ brough local villages, (including where I live in Hardwick) which have no pavements, thereby posing a very real damper to the location of the VM40 is already ving at speed/ brough local villages, (including th
Proposal Outline planning permission (all matters reserved except for access) for the erection of buildings comprising logistics (Use Class B8) and ancillary Office (Use Class E(g)(1)) floorspace and associated infrastructure; construction of new site access from the B4100; creation of internal roads and access routes; and hard and soft landscaping Case Officer David Lowin Organisation Name Address Honeysuckle Cottage,11 Hethe Road,Hardwick,Bicester,OX27 855 Type of Comment Objection Type neighbour Comments I strongly object to the proposal on the following grounds: In the Cherwell DC Local Plan, this site is not allocated for employment, or any other use. It shows the site retaining its current agricultural use. There are many other alternative sites in Cherwell, amounting to over 50 hectares of land, which have been allocated for employment and should be prioritised over this site. Why have a 'Local Plan' and then ignore it The proposed development has an extremely large footprint. These buildings have great height, making them visible for many miles and the more so at night, when they would be an assault on the senses of local residents and the many visitors who currently and regularly ensisted to a such a large-scale industrial development. The development works the Ad3 at Baynards Green petrol station to 110 on the M40 regularly comes to a standstill now - sometimes blocking egress from the M40. Tailbacks of traffic wishing to travel north towards the Ad3 at Baynards Green petrol station to 110 on the M40 regularly comes to a standstill now - sometime blocking egress from the M40 is already a maffunctioning in store and without massive redevelopment for v	Application Number	21/03267/OUT buildings comprising logistic (Use Class B8) and ancillary Office (Use Class E(g)(i)) floorspace and associated infrastructure; construction of new site access from the B4100; creation of internal roads and access routes; and hard and soft landscaping Case Officer David Lowin Organisation Name Veronica Barnes Address Honeysuckle Cottage,11 Hethe Road,Hardwick,Bicester,OX27 855 Type of Comment Objection Type neighbour Comments I strongly object to the proposal on the following grounds: In the Cherwell DC Local Plan, this site is not allocated for employment, or any other use. It shows the site retaining its current agricultural use. There are many other alternative sites is in Cherwell, amounting to over 50 hectares of land, which have been allocated for employment and should be prioritised over this site. Why have a 'Local Plan' and then ignorie it The proposed development has an extremely large footprint. These buildings have great height, making them visible for many miles and the more so at night, when they would emit significant light pollution. Noise will also emanate from the warehouses day and night causing great discomfort to villagers and noise pollution. The edvelopment would be an assault on the senses of local regulariy comes to a standstill now - sometimes blocking egress from the M40. Tailbacks of traffic wishing to travel north towards the A43 at Baynards Green petrol station to 110 on the M40 regulariy comes to a standstill ow - sometimes blocking egress from the M40. Tailbacks of traffic wishing to travel north towards the A43 at Baynards Green are already created well passed the Stoke Lyne turning on the B4100. Junction 10 on the M40 is already a malfunctioni	Location	OS Parcel 0006 South East Of Baynards House Adjoining A43 Baynards Green
Organisation Name Veronica Barnes Address Honeysuckle Cottage,11 Hethe Road,Hardwick,Bicester,OX27 855 Type of Comment Objection Type neighbour Comments I strongly object to the proposal on the following grounds: In the Cherwell DC Local Plan, this site is not allocated for employment, or any other use. It shows the site retaining its current agricultural use. There are many other alternative sites in Cherwell, amounting to over 50 hectares of land, which have been allocated for employment and should be prioritised over this site. Why have a 'Local Plan' and then ignore it! The proposed development has an extremely large footprint. These buildings have great height, making them visible for many miles and the more so at night, when they would emit significant light pollution. Noise will also emanate from the warehouses day and night causing great discomfort to villagers and noise pollution. The site is in open countryside, which is entirely unsulted to a such a large-scale industrial development. The development would be an assaut on the senses of local residents and the many visitors who currently and regularly enjoy the North Oxfordshire countryside. In short, it would be a complete eyesore. The local read system would not be able to cape with the additional volume of traffic generate by the development. Traffic between the set of roundabouts on the A43 from the Baynards Green petrol station to 110 on the M40 regularly comes to a standstill now - sometimes blocking egrees from the M40. Tailbacks of traffic wishing to travel north towards the A43 at Baynards Green are already driving at speed) through local villager, (including where I live in Hardwick) which have no pavements, theree by posing a very real danger to life and lim	Proposal	buildings comprising logistics (Use Class B8) and ancillary Office (Use Class E(g)(i)) floorspace and associated infrastructure; construction of new site access from the B4100;
Name Veronica Barnes Address Honeysuckle Cottage, 11 Hethe Road, Hardwick, Bicester, OX27 855 Type of Comment Objection Type neighbour Comments I strongly object to the proposal on the following grounds: In the Cherwell DC Local Plan, this site is not allocated for employment, or any other use. It shows the site retaining its current agricultural use. There are many other alternative sites in Cherwell, amounting to over 50 hectares of land, which have been allocated for employment and should be prioritised over this site. Why have a 'Local Plan' and then ignore it The proposed development has an extremely large footprint. These buildings have great height, making them visible for many miles and the more so at night, when they would emit significant light pollution. Noise will also emanate from the warehouses day and night causing great discomfort to villagers and noise pollution. The site is in open countryside, which is entirely unsuited to a such a large-scale industrial development. The development would be an assault on the senses of local residents and the many visitors who currently and regularly enjoy the North Oxfordshire countryside. In short, it would be a complete evelopment of the local road system would not be able to cope with the additional volume of traffic generated by the development. Traffic between the set of roundabouts on the A43 from the Baynards Green petrol station to 110 on the M40 regularly driving at speed) through local villages, (including where I live in Hardwick) which have no pavements, thereby posing a very real danger to life and limb to pedetrians and other vulnerable road users (e.g. walkers, cyclists and horse-riders). Also, because of the rural nature of the location, access to such a development for visitors and employees, c	Case Officer	David Lowin
Type of Comment Objection Type neighbour Comments I strongly object to the proposal on the following grounds: In the Cherwell DC Local Plan, this site is not allocated for employment, or any other use. It shows the site retaining its current agricultural use. There are many other alternative sites in Cherwell, amounting to over 50 hectares of land, which have been allocated for employment and should be prioritised over this site. Why have a 'Local Plan' and then ignore it! The proposed development has an extremely large footprint. These buildings have great height, making them visible for many miles and the more so at night, when they would emit significant light pollution. Noise will also emanate from the warehouses day and night causing great discomfort to villagers and noise pollution. The site is in open countryside, which is entirely unsuited to a such a large-scale industrial development. The development would be an assault on the senses of local residents and the many visitors who currently and regularly enjoy the North Oxfordshire countryside. In short, it would be a complete evesore. The local road system would not be able to cope with the additional volume of traffic generated by the development. Traffic between the set of roundabouts on the A43 from the Baynards Green apetrol station to 110 on the M40 regularly comes to a standstill now - sometimes blocking egress from the M40. Tailbacks of traffic wishing to travel north towards the A43 at Baynards Green are already created well passed the Stoke Lyne turning on the B4100. Junction 10 on the M40 regularly comes to a standstill now - sometimes blocking engress of the trural nature of the location, access to such a development for visitors and employees, could only be by road vehicle, which would add to the traffic conversito is not podestrians and other vulinerable read-users (e.g. walkers, cyclists and hors	Organisation Name	Veronica Barnes
Type neighbour Comments I strongly object to the proposal on the following grounds: In the Cherwell DC Local Plan, this site is not allocated for employment, or any other use. It shows the site retaining its current agricultural use. There are many other alternative sites in Cherwell, amounting to over 50 hectares of land, which have been allocated for employment and should be prioritised over this site. Why have a 'Local Plan' and then ignore it! The proposed development has an extremely large footprint. These buildings have great height, making them visible for many miles and the more so at night, when they would emit significant light pollution. Noise wally also escale industrial development. The development would be an assault on the senses of local residents and the many visitors who currently and regularly enjoy the North Oxfordshire countryside. In short, it would be a complete eyesore. The local road system would not be able to cope with the additional volume of traffic generated by the development. Traffic between the set of roundabouts on the A43 from the Baynards Green petriol station to 110 on the M40 regularly comes to a standstill now - sometimes blocking egress from the M40. Tailbacks of traffic wishing to travel north towards the A43 at Baynards Green are already created well passed the Stoke Lyne turning on the B4100. Junction 10 on the M40 is already a malfunctioning junction and without massive redevelopment of the local road system this would worsen many fold. There would no doubt be more "rat running" of frustrated motorists (already driving at speed) through local villages, (including where I live in Hardwick) which have no pavements, thereby posing a very real danger to life and limb to pedestrians and other vulnerable road usarreting counds and horse-riders). Also, because of the rural nature of the location, access to such a development for visitors and employees, could only be by road vehicle,	Address	Honeysuckle Cottage,11 Hethe Road,Hardwick,Bicester,OX27 8SS
Comments I strongly object to the proposal on the following grounds: In the Cherwell DC Local Plan, this site is not allocated for employment, or any other use. It shows the site retaining its current agricultural use. There are many other alternative sites in Cherwell, amounting to over 50 hectares of land, which have been allocated for employment and should be prioritised over this site. Why have a 'Local Plan' and then ingore it! The proposed development has an extremely large footprint. These buildings have great height, making them visible for many miles and the more so at night, when they would emit significant light pollution. Noise will also emanate from the warehouses day and night causing great discomfort to villagers and noise pollution. The site is in open countryside, which is entirely unsuited to a such a large-scale industrial development. The development would be a nassault on the senses of local residents and the many visitors who currently and regularly enjoy the North Oxfordshire countryside. In short, it would be a complete evesore. The local road system would not be able to cope with the additional volume of traffic generated by the development. Traffic between the set of roundabouts on the A43 at Baynards Green petrol station to 110 on the M40 regularly comes to a standstill now - sometimes blocking egress from the M40. Tailbacks of traffic wishing to travel north towards the A43 at Baynards Green are already created well passed the Stoke Lyne turning on the B4100. Junction 10 on the M40 regularly driving at speed) through lacel willages, (including where I live in Hardwick) which have no pavements, thereby posing a very real danger to life and limb to pedestrians and other vulnerable road-users (e.g. walkers, cyclists and horse-riders). Also, because of the rural nature of the locaton, access to such a development for visitors and employees, could only be by road vehicle, which would add to the traffic congestion in the area. Has an environment sustaniability audit been conducted to deter	Type of Comment	Objection this site is not allocated for employment, or any other use. It shows the site retaining its current agricultural use. There are many other alternative sites in Cherwell, amounting to over 50 hectares of land, which have been allocated for employment and should be prioritised over this site. Why have a 'Local Plan' and then ignore it! The proposed development has an extremely large footprint. These buildings have great height, making them visible for many miles and the more so at night, when they would emit significant light pollution. Noise will also emanate from the warehouses day and night causing great discomfort to villagers and noise pollution. The site is in open countryside, which is entirely unsuited to a such a large-scale industrial development. The development would be an assault on the senses of local residents and the many visitors who currently and regularly enjoy the North Oxfordshire countryside. In short, it would be a complete eyesore. The local road system would not be able to cope with the additional volume of traffic generated by the development. Traffic between the set of roundabouts on the A43 from the Baynards Green petrol station to J10 on the M40 regularly comes to a standstill now - sometimes blocking egress from the M40. Tailbacks of traffic wishing to travel north towards the A43 at Baynards Green are already created well passed the Stoke Lyne turning on the B4100. Junction 10 on the M40 is already a malfunctioning junction and without massive redevelopment of the local road system this would worsen many fold. There would no doubt be more "rat running" of frustrated motorists (already driving at speed) through local villages, (including where I live in Hardwick) which have no pavements, thereby posing a very real danger to life and limb to pedestrians and other vulnerable road-users (e.g. walkers, cyclists and horse-riders). Also, because of the rural nature of the location, access to such a development for visitors and employees, could only be by road vehicle, which would add to t	Туре	neighbour
Received Date 31/01/2022 16:50:54	Received Date	this site is not allocated for employment, or any other use. It shows the site retaining its current agricultural use. There are many other alternative sites in Cherwell, amounting to over 50 hectares of land, which have been allocated for employment and should be prioritised over this site. Why have a 'Local Plan' and then ignore it! The proposed development has an extremely large footprint. These buildings have great height, making them visible for many miles and the more so at night, when they would emit significant light pollution. Noise will also emanate from the warehouses day and night causing great discomfort to villagers and noise pollution. The site is in open countryside, which is entirely unsuited to a such a large-scale industrial development. The development would be an assault on the senses of local residents and the many visitors who currently and regularly enjoy the North Oxfordshire countryside. In short, it would be a complete eyesore. The local road system would not be able to cope with the additional volume of traffic generated by the development. Traffic between the set of roundabouts on the A43 from the Baynards Green petrol station to J10 on the M40 regularly comes to a standstill now - sometimes blocking egress from the M40. Tailbacks of traffic wishing to travel north towards the A43 at Baynards Green are already created well passed the Stoke Lyne turning on the B4100. Junction 10 on the M40 is already a malfunctioning junction and without massive redevelopment of the loca road system this would worsen many fold. There would no doubt be more "rat running" of frustrated motorists (already driving at speed) through local villages, (including where I live in Hadwick) which have no pavements, thereby posing a very real danger to life and limb to pedestrians and other vulnerable road-users (e.g. walkers, cyclists and horse-riders). Also, because of the rural nature of the location, access to such a development for visitors and employment sustainability audit been conducted to determine the

Attachments