Comments	<input type="text" value="We should avoid developing on green belt sites. Once it has gone, it's gone forever. The pandemic has changed the way we work and live, a lot more shopping is being done online and many people are working from home on a more permanent basis. I think city centres need smarter redevelopments. Shopping areas and living accommodation need to be more integrated and improved. Developing on the land around Oxford Parkway will just make it a London commuter belt area. Forcing house prices to go up even further and become more unaffordable for local people. There should be more investment in the North of England. Levelling up."/>
