Dear Sir / Madam.

I have been passed your e.mail to send files to in support of my objection to the outrageous massive planning proposal from Merton Collehe, planned for Greenbelt land between Begbroke and Yarnton despite widespread outrage and a concerted campaign to try and stop it.

I do hope that these will help in some way and help illustrate the damage that this development will do.

Especially in light of Cop26 and all the efforts being made at the moment, the importance of biodiversity and the scientific proof that ecosystems need protecting and the dramatic shift in the way people live since the pandemic. I pray that Cherwell will see sense and represent the people who they stand for in calling a halt to this plan..

Very best wishes.

Mark.

1. A Cuckoo in spring (recorded in Begbroke wood.)

These have just returned to the area and are a red listed bird.

2. A barn 🦉 Barn Owl. Flying over the ridge and furrow fields hunting for wildlife.

3. A Silver Fritillary butterfly, just beginning to return to the woods.

4. A recent article suggesting the fragile presence of bees in Ancient woodland. All around the suggested area of planning,

The article in this last week's Guardian, about rare ecosystems .
