Comments	<input type="text" value="Bicester is no longer the small market town it once claimed to be and has now become nothing but a glorified housing estate. More and more houses are being built and they're encroaching on its neighbouring villages and green spaces to the detriment of us all. No thought has been given to how this new development will affect the residents in Bucknell and the surrounding area. The roads will become even more congested if these plans go ahead. How will an antiquated sewage system cope with the additional homes? Air pollution has always been an issue and this will only add to it. The thriving wildlife will suffer too with their habitat being destroyed. More thought needs to be put in to any plans for future developments that eat up our surrounding villages."/>
