Comments	<input type="text" value="Bicester has sadly been expanded too much in the last few years and quite frankly it has been ruined. It has been turned from a pleasant country town into a sprawling nothing town with its community feeling totally destroyed. There are now too many houses and still not enough homes for local people who have grown up in Bicester and the surrounding villages and who cannot afford to pay the extortionate prices being charged for these new builds. I regularly drive through Bucknell and have always been aware of the wildlife habitats and we have been proud that animals have been safe in our area. Hawkwell is going to create a huge amount of traffic, in particular those vehicles heading through Bucknell towards the M40 motorway, and the A roads to Buckingham and Northampton. This road is a country road, frequented by cyclists and horse riders, and is not intended for the volume of traffic the development of this amount of houses will bring. Bucknell will sadly lose its village feel and be swallowed up by Bicester. Hawkwell is a step too far and needs to be stopped now."/>
