Comments	<input type="text" value="We strongly object to this volume of houses being built in what is now countryside. The volume of additional traffic to the already busy area, will be a total nightmare plus additional pollution to the air, light and noise. Untold damage to the local wildlife and surrounding country side. I am also concerned about the possibility of local flooding to the area and the loss of our villages. The surrounding area of this site does not have the road capacity to take all of the building traffic works, they would have to gain access through poorly maintained existing roads, which are already full of pot holes. So the small surrounding villages would suffer greatly from the disruption of the build itself and then the further 6,000 inhabitants that would follow"/>
