Comments	<input type="text" value="Over the last 20years Otmoor has developed into one of the UK few and precious wetland bird reserves. It must be protected and a solar farm will not do this. A solar farm could be built in any area. The wetlands cannot. Much better to use this land as water meadow grazing. This would support and develop the biodiversity whilst also providing food. Solar panels confuse birds, potentially damaging this reserve and do not increase biodiversity."/>
