Comments	I wish to strongly object to this planning application. Environmental impact. We live on the A4095 in Bladon. The plans for this development, coupled with those all along the A44 from Oxford, will produce in effect a large. Jilt up area, a suburb of Oxford, replacing the attractive open country between villages that we have now. The development would produce significant extra traffic on the A4095 which has already been severely affected by the developments at Long Hanborough and North Leigh. Already their is marked congestion at the Bladon roundabout and through the village at rush hours producing pollution and difficulties for pedestrians at the east of the village crossing the road. The junction of the A4095 with the A4260, which would be used by many of the. Are leaving this new estate, is already dangerous and congested at rush hours The lack of infrastructure to support this development is alarming. No schools are planned, and our schools are full. No health care facilities are proposed, and we already find that the doctors' surgery in Woodstock and the pharmacy there are struggling to cope, with the 300 new houses already built. I understand that there would also be a problem dealing with sewage, Woodstock, with Blenheim Palace at its heart, is a very special town and a major tourist attraction. This development, on top of all the other housing developments, would double the population of the town and threaten to overwhelm it and destroy its appeal. This site is unsuitable as a means of meeting Cherwell's housing target.
