Comments	<input type="text" value="One of the great things about living in Kirtlington is that it is still a traditional quaint village which is not over populated. Adding 8 extra homes starts to take away from a beautiful little village. Also, living on Oxford Road it will mean the view out of our back bedroom will no longer be countryside and field with sheep. We will now see houses instead. Furthermore, the traffic through such a small village is already high and adding extra homes will only add the volume of traffic. I feel that building homes in that location is inappropriate and unnecessary. From an environmental point of view building homes will take away the abundant wildlife that is present in Kirtlington."/>
