Comments	<input type="text" value="To echo my comments on another application for West Adderbury : This village has already become over developed to the point of altering the entire character. We cannot accomodate more changes, more traffic, more disruption. This village in a conservation zone which is being eroded and destroyed due to over development swallowing up our green space with no thought for the quality of life of the residents. The council should honour the limits of the settlement boundaries and allow the village and community to absorb the hundreds of new properties that have already been built rather than piling on more. Brown land development should be prioritised over the destruction of green fields, which once gone can never be returned. The traditional English character of villages such as Adderbury, the fresh air and green space is why people choose to live in a village and not a town. By over developing you are creating a town without the accompanying facilites, and destroying the very thing that attracts residents to Adderbury."/>
