Comments	<input type="text" value="Current warehouses are not all in use / occupied.&lt;br/&gt;No plans for solar panel installation on yet another huge warehouse and yet prime agricultural land is being targeted for solar panels nearby. Surely there is an obligation to ensure that huge developments like this are used for this purpose when we clearly have a mandate to protect our food supply and farmland. If the space is to be developed on, including / mandating roof coverage with solar panels as part of the consent not only makes sense but is morally criminal if not done."/>
