Comments	<input type="text" value="Yet again I am writing to strongly object to this application which bears remarkable similarity to the recent, rejected, application on the same site. Minor tweaking to the original plan, i.e. colour, will not alter the fact that it would tower above anything nearby and be a dreadful eyesore in a conservation area and blatantly obvious to anyone entering or leaving the village. I note that the plans mention a 'brick wall' when the wall is actually an old drystone construction...an oversight? Has anyone actually visited this site? I do hope that this application will be roundly rejected as was it's predecessor."/>
