| Comments           | This is such a great idea..... NOT. Let's build more houses. Let's get more people moving here. Let's get more people on the road. This is such a terrible idea. Banburys roads can't cope as it is. People can't get to see a doctor as it is so assuming no new dr's surgeries are going to be built either, I'm guessing that this new housing development will not have an effect on this. Education. Are new schools being built as well? Obviously with new housing the prospect of new families increase. And with the education system already at risk, this is a good idea as well? What's the environmental impact on this development? How about instead of building more homes, these companies work with existing authorities and spend their time on existing housing |
