Comments	<input type="text" value="Once again developers seek to build on agricultural land to line their own pockets. This has to stop. When the entire country has been concreted over and we cannot feed people it will be too late. Agricultural land is valuable, not only to provide food but to protect this fragile planet. Develop brownfield sites instead and infill rather than swallowing up vast swathes of the countryside and swallow up villages into Banbury."/>
