Comments	I have an objection to the proposed plan to build 170 houses near my home. The proposed plan will ruin areas that are meant to be conservation areas and thus should not be having any form of construction being built on it, especially anything that will thoroughly destroy the local ecosystem, wipe out the habitats needed for the local wildlife and take away from the amount of valuable agricultural land available for the growth of food. In addition to this, it will also take away the green space that I and many other like me enjoy using. Additionally, this proposed housing construction is not part of the current or future development plan. Worse it would even contradict current policies which would seek to avoid joining the local village of Hanwell to the town of Banbury, doubly so as it will be to the detriment of local heritage sites that have persisted for centuries before this proposal threatened them. Worse still, the site has already been assessed as not suitable in the past, which makes it doubly strange that Vistry would put forward this proposal considering all of the above.
