Comments	I wish to object in the strongest possible terms to the above application. As a former Biology teacher and eco-coordinator of my former school, I cannot stress enough the importance of farmland in maintaining and developing the biodiversity of the area. As a grandmother, whose grandsons live locally, I feel strongly that the availability of green space to allow children to run around, ride their bikes and explore nature is vital for the healthy development of minds and bodies alike. The loss of this land to housing would have a hugely detrimental effect not only to my grandchildren but all the children that currently live in Hanwell and Hanwell fields. Indeed, having regularly walked in these fields I can see that they are enjoyed by the whole community for running, walking, bike riding, remote control vehicle practise, ornithology and many other passtimes which would be denied to the community in the event of development. I frequently visit the area to see my son and his family and it is clear, in the event development is considered appropriate, that there are numerous more suitable sites for building. However, I am given to understand that further development is not indicated in the local plan as the forecast development needs have already been met. I urge you to use good judgement and common sense to reject this application.
